1. The committee calculated the vacancy based on the students registered under MPhil in 2016 calculated as MPhil students except pre-phd students in CMM, SBT, SPS and CNS.;
2. The students are doing MPhil Dissertation (ie 2015 enrolled students and in the 4th Semester) being treated against the PhD for calculating the vacancy position.;
3. The students in the 3 and 4th year also taken into account against the PhD candidates.;
4. The candidates in the 10th Semester ie students enrolled 2012 and before are not counted in PhD, assuming that the last year students and the students registered under 9(b) clause as per PhD JNU ordinance (extended period) will submit the thesis or deregister from the programme.;
5. However, the students granted Zero semester and students in the field trip/gone on fellowships are not included because the data is not available with their guide details.;
6. As per the UGC notification the permanent faculties are counted against the intake calculated as per the UGC Regulations 2016. The faculty who are superannuating upto Dec 2018 is not counted while calculating the vacancy.;
7. The faculty doesn't possess PhD degree and UGC Research Scientists; UGC Recharge faculties are not included while calculating the vacancy; and
8. The Committee has considered three different data one compiled by A.R. (Evaluation Branch and CIS) in February 2017 another by A.R. (Admissions) and CIS separately on February last week and 28.02.2017 respectively.

Recommendations:

The vacancy calculations are tentative. So while calculating the intake in MPhil the vacancy work out be reduced by 3 and in PhD reduced by 5, because the committee does not hve actual number of scholars who are in the final/last semester of Ph.D. programme. Moreover, some scholars may be granted Zero semester and students in the field trip/gone on fellowships. This is highly variable and based on assumptions.
